Activity Name: Return To Work: Bridging the Communication Gap

Learning outcomes

- Identify common communication breakdowns between clinicians, employers and service users (and other stakeholders, e.g. insurers) and how these contribute to delayed recovery, service users' confusion and return to work barriers.
- Outline practical communication strategies that improve clarity, timeliness and consistency of information shared.
- Integrate communication approaches into clinical practices that helps service users understand the roles of different stakeholders, reduce misinformation, and support service user engagement in recovery and return to work planning.
