Activity Name: Supporting children who have disclosed trauma

Learning outcomes

- Discuss the ways that self-blame occurs and how it is manipulated by perpetrators to support the secrecy and silence surrounding abuse.
- Identify strategies that practitioners can introduce to children and parents to help them make sense of their experiences in ways that challenge self-blame.
- Discuss how the power difference between children and adults can be made overt in sessions with children to help them challenge their feelings of complicity.

Time spent engaged in the activity:

(including completing this form)

After watching or listening to the activity, consider the following:

1. What were three key messages that were covered in the activity?

2. Identify your learning goal and how the activity's content aligned with that goal.

3. What actions are you going to take to use the learnings to improve and/or change your practice? For example:

- Explore the topic further in a supervision session or with a peer/colleague
- Identify and read the latest research
- Undertake additional courses, study or training
- Search MHPN's webinar or podcast libraries for more PD content
- Join an MHPN network to connect with other practitioners for networking, peer support or PD

4. Please note any other reflections on the topic or activity.
